- To frame and establish by-laws and a code of ethics for members
- To encourage and facilitate communication between members, allowing them to disseminate and exchange professional ideas and knowledge in connection with their professional practice
- To promote the education status and training of patent and trade marks attorneys, thereby maintaining high standards of professional conduct and knowledge for members
- To provide means for settling disputes between practitioners, and between practitioners and their clients.
- To contribute to the development of intellectual property legislation, regulations and practices for the benefit of inventors, patentees and third parties

The purpose of this Membership Booklet is to outline the various services IPTA currently provides to its members in pursuing these objectives. These services range from providing continuing professional development webinars of the highest standards to supporting members with professional wellbeing counselling when needed.

IPTA is determined to ensure value is delivered to its members, the IP profession and to the public.

Our membership offer

What we do for you

We are committed to helping our current and future members

We influence for impact

- IPTA is the voice of the Australian patent and trade mark attorney profession, influencing issues that are important to you.
- We promote improvements in laws and regulations relating to patents, trade marks, designs and plant breeder's rights.
- We encourage communication between members, allowing them to exchange professional ideas and experience in managing patent, design, trade mark and plant breeder's rights issues, and to gather and disseminate professional knowledge.
- We look to reform and shape the IP landscape to be aligned to technological advances, to remain relevant to public interest and the profession by influencing government and regulators as the need arises.

We promote the profession

In Australia

- We consult with, and prepare submissions to, IP Australia and other Government bodies on legislative and practice changes, both in Australia and internationally.
- IPTA raises the profile of the profession through positioning attorneys as the expert source of all intellectual property advice.
- IPTA helps you to build your business through our online 'Find an Attorney' directory. With numerous visits to the website each month and daily consumer calls enquiring about the 'sound out advice', it's one of our greatest tools to help connect the IPTA members to prospective businesses.
- We celebrate the best work in the attorney profession through our annual Edward Waters and Trade Mark Prizes, and the biennial Malcolm Royal Prize.

Overseas

- Through our global networks, we represent Australia internationally at various conferences and IP institute meetings such as those organised by FICPI, APAA and AIPPI.
- We are in regular contact with IPONZ and provide updates on legislative and regulatory changes in New Zealand.

We are your career companion

- For members, IPTA offers continuous professional education to the highest standards, to help you to stay on top of changing regulatory requirements and improve your practice, by offering a host of specialised training, including monthly webinars. We send out regular emails to our members informing them of the webinar schedule and log in details. Each webinar is equivalent to 1 CPE point.
- Our online education portal has been designed specifically to provide IPTA members with an opportunity to access webinars, pre-recorded educational seminars/PowerPoint presentations to help you keep up to date with developments in IP law and practice, as well as maintaining your CPE requirements.
- We provide IP firms with the opportunity to advertise available positions on our website, which also represents a great place for members to find new positions. The IPTA web site is visited regularly by attorneys, students and others interested in a career in IP. The Jobs Board section of the site is therefore a very relevant place to post an advertisement for staff.

We keep you up-to-date

Bulletins and Notice to Members

- IPTA works at the forefront of the IP profession and keeps you up-to-date by bringing you the latest news, information and research impacting the profession. Our bulletins and notice to members aim to keep members completely up to date with what is happening in the IP world.

Research and Submissions

- Our members can access any of the submissions the Council make on behalf of IPTA on our website: www.ipta.org.au

We keep you connected to your peers

- We host various events throughout the year, whether it be a seminar, an educational course, casual drinks catch-up or our yearly Christmas lunches, which provide opportunities for our members to network with each other.
- Whether you are looking for a fast update on the latest developments or need more in-depth support to develop personal or professional skills, our range of high-quality conferences and training are designed to help support you throughout your career.
- The IPTA Annual Conference is not only an excellent way to ensure you receive all of your CPE point requirements through the educational seminars we run throughout the conference, it is also an excellent way to connect with your peers.

We provide practice support

- If a member is having difficulties in carrying out their professional duties due to illness or for some other personal reason, IPTA Council can arrange guidance or professional assistance to maintain your professional practice during those difficulties. If a member is having difficulties, it is important to seek assistance earlier to ensure that client's rights are maintained and professional obligations are met. If you need assistance, please contact the secretariat.

We can resolve Conflicts and Ethics queries

- The Ethics and Dispute Committee welcomes contact from members to discuss issues regarding ethics or potential conflicts that may arise in carrying out their professional duties. Whether you are a sole practitioner or a partner in a large firm, having an independent third-party sounding board can be useful in determining the best course of action in a given situation. Please contact the secretariat should you require any assistance.

We provide Mental Health Support Services

- Professional counselling support for IPTA Members
- The IPTA Mental Health Support Service is a confidential, personal, and professional counseling service available to members of IPTA, provided by experienced psychologists on the Cyber Clinic platform.
- Cyberclinic is a boutique psychology practice located in Melbourne, which offers a variety of cognitive and mindfulness-based techniques to reduce psychological injury and maintain emotional wellbeing.
- Their psychologists are highly trained in a variety of mental health issues such as depression, anxiety, stress, addiction, grief and loss, relationship issues, anger management and many more.
- The IPTA Wellbeing Program offers up to five free sessions with a psychologist. If further sessions are required, your psychologist will discuss the possibility of getting a mental healthcare plan from your GP to continue providing counselling for up to ten sessions with a Medicare rebate.
